

Date: Monday 12 March, Time: 4:05pm-5:30pm (Venue: MAT 0103).

Title of presentation: "La traduction malaisée de l'américain vers le français dans America America d'Elia Kazan"

Bio: Esther Heboyan is associate professor of American literature and cinema at the University of Artois in Arras, France. Her areas of specialization are literature of exile, cross-cultural communication, and visual narratives. She is also a translator (Turkish/French/English/French) and a short-story writer. A reading of her short stories (English) will also take place at Alachua County Library

This talk is co-sponsored by the French Florida Research Institute, with the support of the Cultural Services of the French embassy in the United States and the department of Languages, Literatures and Cultures. It is organized by Dr. Sylvie Blum-Reid- sylblum@ufl.edu